

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A molding material includes a layer of a reinforcement material and a layer of a resin material, the resin material layer including a venting structure to allow gases to pass out of the molding material via the reinforcement layer during processing. The 5 venting structure includes venting passages or channels for venting the molding material.